Orrawa, N.v. 29.—There is stiffur good deal of aluens on necount of the prevalence of fever. There is no doubt that the ourseles of typhoid and malaral fever cases in the Capital at present is enormous, indeed many people think it is a low calculation to place the number at it's hundred Fortunately few farm cases have developed. Almost gvery person one meets on the street has nome relative, friend or acquaintance down with it. The local doctors, and there are some of the beemedical men in the ownery resident in Ottawa, are ulement run off their feet as great is the demand for their warriers. Our doctor has neventy cases on his hands, and absolutely refuses to take any more. Another has $5' another 50 and so on. The causes of the epidemic are astributed to various sources—impore water, although the Ottawa croter seems as pure as ever, bad draitage, etc. The Pever Stricken Capital.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Twee last work tender was stronded in a fee of unare-ordented density. Sir Charles Warren, fearing the roughs would utilize the darkness, had a couple of the usend of police in reserve at Scotland Yard, with numerous vehicles ready hered, to take them to any part of the metropolis, as the railroade were blocked and signals invisible. Brokers in London were equally nervous. We discuss the was the last day, when the low was thicked and masticest, was the last day. Therefore clerks on Wednesday groped their way through it afrest cautiously, around with revolvers, with bags fastened to been sides by their hanne. The day passed without robbery, but the scare sets mart people thinking, such the result that a scheme is not in operating where by nervous broaders may insure bonds in transit through the sets at a premium of ten shillings per £10 per ennum, maximum institutional in race £20,000. TRIBRY says there will be a red hot time at the meeting to-night This is the modest way in which Mr. Baillie announces his intention to "clocutionize."

A CONTEMPORARY regards the a moune. ment of the failure of another Montana Cattle Company, which, a year ago was said to be worth $1.000,000 above all liabilities, as-another indication of the decay of the ranching system. The cause in this case wholesale loss of eattle from cold and starvation last winter-is one which it is impossible to avoid in the Northern territories under the present system, and there seems to be good reason for the belief that cattle raising there will soon be confined to individual owners of cultivated land. Even in the South, were the climate is less rigorous, it is felt that the ranching system is a wasteful one, and that it must eventually be aban-leved. Mail.

Value of Spirits of Turpemtime.

This is one of the most enviable articles in a family, and when it has once obtained a foothold in a house, it is really a necessity, and could ill be dispensed with. Its in micinal qualities are very numerous, for borns it is a quick application and gives immediate relief; for bisters on the hand it is of priceless value, searing down the skin and preventing soreness; for corns on the toes it is useful; and good for the unation and sore throats, and it is the list of the country of the corns of the corns of the corns of the corns of drawers, chests and cupbosrdes it will render the guments secure for injury during the summer. It will keep ants and bugs from closets and store rooms by putting a few drops in the corns This is one of the most enviable articles ants and bugs from closets and store rooms by putting a few drops in the corn ers, and upon the shelves, it is sure destruction to bed bugs, and will effectually drive them away from their haunts, it thoroughly applied to the joints of the bestead in the spring cleaning time, and injures neither furniture nor clothing, its pingent odor is retained for a long time, and no family ought to be entirely out of a supply at any time of the year.

A Triangular Parlor Chair.

A pretty and novel arrangement for a partice is to get a carpenter to make a triangular seat, the height of any ordinary chair or ottoman. It can be misade with a lid to open, to last work or newspapers into. Stuff the top with "excelsior" covered with a thick-keyer of wood; over that place the final covering of plush, which can be tufted or let smooth, as fancy dietats. Have the carpenter lasten the seat in the corner, having the hid open towards the front, the translation agelies the wall. Fut two or three handsone cushoms against the wall. NAPHA-KLANG

A striking feature about Napha-Klang is the number of tombs surrounding it. These are built in the siden of the hells, and are of a horseshoe shape. They are in the form of vaults, and are constructed of selid masonry. In these vaults the dead are placed and left for seven years, after which the remains are collected and placed in urns. Those who can not alford to build a tomb for the use of their ewn relatives combine with others, so as to have a common place of sepalture of respectable appearance. The faces, however, are interred in holes cut in the sea eliffs. After burial supplies of food and rice sniftly of placed in the tomb for the use of the deceased, which the relatives come and consume after a decent interval. The combings of the hair are injected by the priests, and by them hair are purpose or other; but the meaning of the rite has not yet been disclosed.

A Sea Flower.

One of the most exquisite wonders of the sea is called the opelet, about the size of the German aster, and looking, indeed very much like one. Imagine a v ry large double aster, with a great many leng petals of a light green color, glessy as soln, and each tipped with the colored a blush rose. These lovely petals duries lie in their places quietly, however, but wave about in the water, while the white opelet clings to a rock. You have no idea how prefix and innocent it looks on wave about in the water, while the white opelet clings to a rock. You have no idea how prec'v and innocent it looks on its immovable is. Would you suspect that it would feast upon anything grosser than dew and sunbeams? Let us watch this satanic plant—for it is a devil of a flower—and see what it will do with those pretty, graceful arms. You will see in a moment—for here comes a foolish-little fish—do you se that little fish wriggling and sinking?—ah, it has disappeared? Yes, it was struck dead by the poison in those pretty arms, which was as fatal as the rattle nake's bite, and in an instant a tremendous mouth opened in an instant a tremendous mouth opened and the victim was availowed whole by the innocent looking opelet—a scaly thing for a flower to do, surely.

Dogs with Cat-like Hobits.

Mr. Romanes, in his book on "Mental Evolution in Animals," gives some curious illustrations of modified instincts due to early association or training. A terrier pup, brought up with a kitten, began to bound like a cat, played with mice by letting them run for a distance and pouncing on them, licked his paws and rubbed them over his ears. Miss Mitsion, in her Letters, records similar habits in a Kins-Charles terrier, which belianced to no less a personage than the venerable De. Bouth, fresident of Mag lalene College, Oxford. This dog nather a contract of the proverbial cat-like dread of avet feet, and never went and for rain; licked his paws several times in the day for the purpose of washing his face, sitting the while upon his "ell in the true cattlish position; watered a mouse-hole for hours together; and dispositions of his feling foster-mother.
